Along with this, students are given an opportunity to measure their attainment of various course and programme outcomes by analyzing their performance in different exams. All internal exams and class tests results are communicated to the students regularly through concerned teachers and departments. Along with this, at the end of each academic year students are given report cards through which they can assess their attainment of course outcomes. The various departments collect information of their alumnae and keep a record of students who are enrolled in higher education. This also works as an important marker of evaluating attainment of course outcomes.
